

Memorandum

TO: Ms. Kathie Brooks, City of Miami Beach
FROM: Mr. Lee Evett, Willdan Financial Services
 Mr. Pierce Rossum, Willdan Financial Services
DATE: June 18, 2010
SUBJECT: Revised: Deliverable #1 – Inventory of Fees

In accordance with the reporting requirement identified in Phase 2 of our agreement, recorded as a Memorandum documenting the City’s existing revenue sources; fee and rate schedules; protocol for updating the fees and rates; administrative costs of collecting and expending funds; and enabling legislation. The memorandum shall also include staff observed areas that are potential new revenue sources.

we are pleased to provide this memorandum and the accompanying attachment in fulfillment of this requirement.

The purpose of this document is to insure a commonality of information with respect to fees and rates and other identified sources of General Fund Revenue between the consultant (Willdan) and the professional staff of the City of Miami Beach (City).

The information detailed presented is our understanding of those specific revenues and related fees. This information will become the sources of revenue to be investigated for:

1. Current “market rates” of the revenue sources currently in place in the City as they currently exist in the peer communities and;
2. The basis for identifying additional sources of revenue, currently in place in one or more comparable peer communities that may be implemented in the City.

The information comes directly from the files of the city and discussions with various city staff members. Willdan has made no effort to verify the functional existence of these sources of revenue, the dollars represented nor the exact cost of collection.

The rates and fees listed below are separated according to the actions that can be performed administratively.

Rates & Fees that can be set administratively
Specialty Camps and Summer Specialty Program Fees
Athletic Fees
Gymnastics Fees
Recreation Classes
Recreation and Citywide Advertising Rates
Recreation Miscellaneous Fees
Street Performers and Artist Vendor Permit Fees
Administrative Fees for Police Fingerprint Cards, Budget Books, CAFR and Agenda Packages
Rate & Fees that can be discounted administratively
Special Events - can waive special event rental components for non-profits
Golf Rates
Recreation Rental Rates

As we have explored the fees, rates and other sources of revenue, we have found that none of the fees that produce substantial revenue carries a cost of collection that is meaningful in the larger sense, or that would impede the feasibility of implementing and collecting such fees.

Accompanying this memorandum, presented as both an excel model and PDF attachments, are tables which lists existing City revenues and relevant information related to such revenue. Certain revenues of the City incorporated a fee schedule that varied depending on specific parameters. Because of these varying rates and to ensure the City has the necessary data readily accessible without the need to read ordinances or resolutions authorizing such fees, the Excel model incorporates all fee schedules as separate tabs within the worksheet. The summary revenue table in the Excel model identifies specific attachments where applicable.

Section 1: Interviews with Members of the City's Professional Staff

The institutional knowledge held by members of the City staff can be invaluable in understanding existing policies and history of fees for services, previous efforts to determine and apply cost recovery levels, and identifying potential revenue sources not presently implemented. Willdan interviewed twenty individuals from twelve functional areas, several more than once. The professional staff members were generous with their time, candid and well informed on the objectives of the study. Both City staff and Willdan understood the desire to use information gained through this study to identify potential strategies or action items to strengthen the General Fund. The list of departments represented and personnel involved in the interviews follows:

- Finance: Manny Marquez, Betty White – Internal Service Fund, Interviewed in City Hall on April 7, 2010
- Public Works: Keith Wilder, Julio Cano – Streets, Utilities, Stormwater, Sanitation, Interviewed in City Hall on April 7, 2010
- City Clerk's Office: Robert Parcher, Record Keeping, Agendas, Interviewed on April 7, 2010, in City Hall
- Fleet: Drew Trepak, Fleeer Maintenance, Interviewed on March 11, 2010, in City Hall
- Tourism and Cultural Affairs: Natasha Diaz, Max Sklar, Special Events, Interviewed on April 7, 2010, in the Tourism Office
- Parking: Rocio Rodriquez, Saul Francis, Interviewed on April 7, 2010 in the Parking Fund's Office
- Real Estate Housing and Community Development: Anna Parekh, Interviewed on April 28th, 2010 via telephone
- Communications: Mariu Emmons, Nannette Rodriquez, interviewed on April 7, 2010 in the Communications' Office
- Building and Code Compliance, Andrea Agha, Greg Tindle, Interviewed May 3, 2010 via telephone
- Police Department: Bill Gonzalez, Sgt Lorenzo Han, Lt. David De La Espriella, Interviewed April 7, 2010 in the Police Department
- Fire Department: Assistant Chief Javier Otero, Interviewed April 8, 2010 in the Fire Department Offices
- Parks and Recreation: Julio Magrisso, Interviewed March 11, 2010 in the City Hall
- Planning: Susan Alonzo, Interviewed by telephone May 3, 2010

In each interview, the discussion centered on four basic questions:

1. What fees and /or rates currently being utilized by the department may be undervalued when compared to the actual cost of providing the services, and is it feasible that these can be increased to better realize full cost recovery?
2. What fees may currently be set at appropriate levels, but perhaps are waived or discounted due to other factors? For example, some Parks and Recreation programs have a high percentage of scholarships available to participants, or a fee waiver may be granted for specific public purpose benefits.
3. Are there services that are currently provided upon request, but for which there is no charge or cost to the consumer? These services could represent potential revenue opportunities (via new fees for services) that if addressed, could provide for the recovery of costs associated with the services.

Each department representative clearly understood the negative impacts the recent and ongoing economic recession was having on the General Fund, and by extension their department, and there was a shared concern for the City's fiscal health.

Fee suggestions from each functional area follow:

Finance

The Finance Department felt that fees for two specific type permits needed to be updated: "For Sale" signs and "Garage Sale" permits. The current fees are $15 and $5 for Commercial and Residential "For Sale" sign permits respectively and $20 for "Garage Sale" permits.

The City issues approximately 100 garage sale permits annually. The City issues considerably more "For Sale" sign permits annually although the number varies by the strength of the real estate market.

Public Works

A number of fees funding Enterprise activities of this department have recently been increased. No specific new fees or increases to existing fees affecting the General Fund were provided.

City Clerk's Office

The City provides for Special Master Appeals and Court Costs are charged. These fees have not been changed in at least 15 years. The current cost is $75 and does not cover the cost of service.

Costs for staff time required for processing a Public Records request should begin at 30 minutes instead of one hour.

Notary services are presently free for Residents and $5 for non-residents. Commercial rates for these services are as much as $15. These fees should be increased.

The Clerk's Office receives frequent requests for copies of personal documents. The service is presently free for less than 5 copies. The city should consider a reasonable fee or install a copy machine in a public area where the citizen could make the copies for a fee.

Fleet

A second example involves the services of your Fleet operation. Currently, the City contracts with the Village of Key Biscayne to provide vehicle maintenance, parts and administrative services related to the acquisition and disposable of the villages motorized fleet. The City has expressions of interested from two additional cities and a paramilitary branch of the federal government for these same services. The city can negotiate a contract that provides for full restitution of all costs, direct and indirect and excess revenue for the General Fund.

Tourism and Cultural Development

The activities of this department are varied, ranging from Art in Public Places, motion picture and still photography film shoots and overseeing the contracts for the operation of the Convention Center and City owned theaters. Current revenues on an annual basis are approximately half of its cost of operation.

The department suggested a “Late Fee” for Special Event Applications received within a certain time window before an event. Also, certain activities such as weddings with less than 100 people currently are permitted without a fee.

Parking Fund

This operation is an Enterprise Fund. Enterprise Funds are City “businesses” set up with the reasonable expectation that revenues will meet or exceed total costs, including all direct and indirect expenses. In other words Enterprise Fund operations should need no subsidy from the General Fund while reimbursing the General Fund for services provided by the General Fund to the “business” such as Human Resource, Legal and administrative. In addition to paying for all direct and indirect operational costs, the fund currently makes a substantial payment for the use of Right of Ways.

The city’s monthly parking rates are acknowledged to be below similar monthly rates charged by private garage operators.

The rates for Valet – Special Event/Reserved Meter Spaces are low for the exclusivity, service and costs offered.

Real Estate, Housing and Community Development

The recent economic recession, and related devaluation in the real estate market and subsequent property tax proceeds, has highlighted the need to maximize investment returns on city assets as a means of augmenting general fund revenues. The city owns 293 parcels of land, 79 with improvements, and has operational control over the extremely valuable beach property.

Utilizing real estate holdings for revenue generating purposes is a business-like way of maximizing returns on these assets.

Beach Concessions tax applicable to hotels is limited to $10,000 annually per hotel, for hotels with more than 555 rooms. No justification has been located for this limitation. Removing the limitation would increase General Fund Revenue by approximately $21,500.

The City of Miami Beach incurs significant costs to clean, maintain walkways, and protect the beach and associated areas in addition to providing lifeguards. The City currently receives approximately $1,000,000 in revenue from Beach concession fees, including upland fees. While the City offsets the balance of the costs with resort tax revenues, the City should attempt to recoup more of the beach-related costs from those business entities that more directly benefit from proximity to the beach.

The value of City owned “air rights” is unknown and should be explored. Recent inquires from cell phone tower operators indicates a business interest in these “rights”.

Communications

The department has recently raised ad prices for the City Magazine but still has a waiting list of advertisers who wish to use the publication, indicating room to increase the rates again.

The “Sponsorship Program”, whereby city activities are sponsored by private interests is successful and should be expanded.

The Public, Education and Government (PRG) channel on Cable may be funded by sponsorships thus relieving the General Fund of present expenditures for city activity television programming

Code Compliance

Code Compliance provides a service for document/lien searches for a fee of $30. Usually these requests come from title companies to verify clean title at the time of real estate purchase/sale. The department feels this fee is low and should be examined.

The Department also receives requests for expedited property lien searches. Their normal turn-around time is 10 days. A fee of $20 for a 24 hour turnaround was suggested.

The City is considering a Neighborhood Establishment Compliance fee to be charged for inspections to insure compliance with terms of conditional use permits. Given the number of Conditional Use establishments, this fee could generate $300,000 per year but would require, in the opinion of the department, three more code compliance officers.

Police Department

The Police Department had few services that are fee oriented. Most of these services deal with copies of public documents where the fee is regulated by state legislation. The Department had no suggestions for additional fees.

Fire Department

Fees for Ambulance service have recently been increased and should be more aggressively collected for non-residents. Presently, total receipts approximate 60% of billings. The City may also wish to investigate use of a collections firm specializing in ambulance fees to increase the collections percentage.

Parks and Recreation

The Department has suggested a number of fee increases and options for fee increases for five basic programs – After School, Summer Camp, Summer Specialty Camp (Dance Camp used as an example), Youth Athletic and Pool.

The suggestions are numerous and have been outlined for the City Managers review. A copy is attached. The potential revenue increase is significant, more than $113,000 calculating only the least financial increase in each of the five programs. And there are multiple programs in the Specialty Camp area in addition to the one example highlighted.

Planning

Planning is active in the property development area which was not a part of this study, but also provides services unrelated to property development.

Currently the department provides a Historic Home Designation Review for a fee but the fee should be increased to cover actual costs. The work varies by application so the fee may be best written as a per hour charge.

Zoning and Setback Review Letters are requested for property transactions and are now provided free. The City should charge a fee.

The department is frequently asked to consult on everything from planning in the city to specific non-development issues. The department suggested a per hour consultation fee be charged, perhaps with a departmental waiver provision for good cause, to cover these costs.

A Business License Review is required of the department but no fee has been established for this service. Other License activities carry a fee but are undervalued and should be increased.

Section 2: Consultant Recommendations

Based on our research, interviews and discussions with members of the City's professional staff, and our experiences in various other communities, a number of recommendations were developed by the consultants and are presented below.

As a preamble, it is important to note that because of various activities at the state level, property taxes, once the most reliable and stable source of General Fund Revenues, were significantly destabilized. With the recent recession, the revenue from property taxes has been reduced. Both actions have produced the "perfect storm" for local government financial projections and funding of essential public services. The reliability of revenues is more than just a comfort factor. Reliable revenues, especially from property taxes, have traditionally funded services that are not well suited to be fee-based services. Obvious examples include the Fire and Police Departments. These two critical public safety services will consume in the City of Miami Beach more than $132 million this Fiscal Year, far in excess of the $108 million in total property tax to be received during the same period from all properties in the City.

The City needs to enact revenue streams that are reliable and adequate to insure consistent funding of essential public services.

Direct and Indirect General Fund Enhancements

This study is being performed to specifically analyze maximization of existing general fund fees and charges for services as revenue sources and the potential for creation of new revenue sources. As part of our research for this project and our work engagements with other municipalities within the State of Florida, this section identifies some opportunities for Miami Beach to consider for maximizing existing revenue mechanisms as well as the potential for new ones. Maximizing existing revenue or creating a new revenue stream that is not directly related to the general fund could help reduce the burden on the General Fund by alleviating that Fund from financing such services. A brief discussion of some specific opportunities identified for the City is presented within this section.

Selection and implementation of funding mechanisms require detailed analysis of the amount and timing of revenue needs (initial and long-term), projections of potential revenue from identified revenue mechanisms, research and application of legal constraints on the specific project/program and, ultimately, policy decisions by elected officials guiding distribution of the benefits and burdens of the proposed projects and programs. Due to the changing nature of the law and actions of the Florida Legislature, information presented herein may become outdated. The following primary opportunities for increasing general fund revenue or shifting demand on the general fund to a new revenue source have been identified:

1) Increase Resort Tax on Transient Rentals

The City of Miami Beach currently is limited by its charter from levying the maximum resort tax authorized by state law. Pursuant to Laws of Florida Ch. 67-30, the City is authorized to levy a 4% tax on transient rentals and a 2% tax on sales of food, beverages, wine and alcohol. The City imposes the full 2% tax on food and beverage sales; however, the City Charter §5.03 currently limits the City to a 3% tax on transient rentals. The City could pursue authority to increase the transient rental levy through amendment of the City Charter by referendum.

2) Fire Services Assessment

The imposition of a special assessment to fund fire protection services has been upheld by the Florida Supreme Court in City of North Lauderdale v. SMM Properties, 825 So.2d 343 (Fla., 2002). The adoption and levy of such an assessment for the City of Miami Beach could provide significant relief to the General Fund that currently funds all costs related to fire suppression, education and inspection. Emergency medical services (EMS) and Life Guard related costs may not be included in a Fire Services Special Assessment so some continued funding from the General Fund would be necessary. However, based on our specific and direct experience in forming fire assessment programs within Florida municipalities, the City could conservatively fund approximately 30% to 50% of the Fire Department's total budget. The specific amount that may be funded by a fire assessment is determined by using a sophisticated analysis of the calls for service based on not just the number of calls but also the equipment, personnel and time duration on scene. The analysis provides a nexus between each property's assessment and the special benefit each property receives from fire protection services. If action is taken quickly, the assessment implementation of a fire services assessment could provide significant revenue for the FY11-12 Budget although the Uniform Method of Collection could not be utilized for that fiscal year.

3) Review of the Status and Use of General Fund Properties by the Parking Fund

Currently the Parking Fund pays 10% of its parking meter revenue to the General Fund for the use of a portion of the public right-of ways for meter parking spaces. The Parking Fund also owns and operates several parking garages and surface parking lots. While a question exists concerning pre-payments from the Parking Fund to the General Fund for the underlying land on which parking structures and surface lots are built, there may be a significant revenue potential that could be realized annually by the General Fund from the Parking Fund for the annual use of these properties. Should the General Fund still own the land in question, the annual lease should be calculated at fair market value.

4) Contracting Out Municipal Services

The City has the opportunity to provide services to neighboring communities or entities of the federal government when the City has excess service capacity or the interest in providing certain services, e.g. fleet services, recreation programs, etc.

5) Permits and Licenses

Permits for activities should cover all costs, both direct and indirect including those for application, issuance, enforcement and, if included, use of city personnel and public property. While the fee for special event permits, promotional distribution fees and banner fees cover almost twice the cost of personnel responsible for issuing special event permits, special event costs in other supporting divisions such as Property Management and Fire Rescue may not be fully addressed. Other special event and activity services such as Police are handled separately, and those revenues too should be sufficient to cover both direct and indirect costs. City policies related to these permits should be thoroughly evaluated to determine if full or increased cost recovery is feasible through the fees charged, and if so, the costs related to the processing and enforcement of these permits should be analyzed to ensure that they are comprehensive in scope. If the costs cannot be fully recovered the City should examine if there is a public purpose for the General Fund subsidizing the activity.

6) Water and Sewer Utility Systems

Some consideration should also be given to the continued operation of these systems by the City. The City operates a collection and distribution system on behalf of the County. In return, you must maintain the system, pass along county treatment costs over which you have no control, accept the potable water product over which you have no quality control and discharge your wastewater effluent for treatment over which you have no control. The City of Royal Palm Beach, in Palm Beach County sold their utility operation in return for fair market value of the assets ($70,000,000) and a 10% Franchise Fee payable by the county in perpetuity. The City of Royal Palm Beach now has a permanent, growing General Fund revenue stream for which they basically have no direct costs and no liability.

7) Life Guard Services

The City currently pays more than $8 million for lifeguard services to insure the safety of a regional activity. These costs should be recouped from the individuals and/or commercial operations that profit from beach activities. The City should engage the County in discussions concerning the City providing regional activities which are the responsibility of the county.

8) Beach Revenues

The current revenue received by the City directly from beach operations comes from a beach concession tax. While the City offsets the balance of the costs with resort tax revenues, the City should attempt to recoup more of the beach-related costs from those business entities that more directly benefit from proximity to the beach.

9) Administration of Existing Fees

On July 30, 2003, the City Commission adopted Resolution 2003-2529 which established that (1) an administrative review of the City fees shall be initiated whenever the change in the CPI, between the current CPI and the date of the CPI used to establish the last fee adjustment, is greater than 5%; and (2) upon reaching the threshold and, following a survey of fees for similar services in surrounding communities and/or analysis to review the current cost of providing such services, the Administration shall prepare its recommendation that adjustment to City fees be incorporated into an amended ordinance or resolution, as appropriate, with final approval of same by the City Commission. Since 2003, the CPI has increased over 19% and yet we have been told of fees that were not taken through this process. This policy should be consistently followed. In addition, the City currently has a policy of not charging fees to City residents for a number of services across various departments, such as use of City swimming pools and other park facilities and notary services. This policy should be evaluated by each department to determine if significant revenues would be generated by the imposition of fees on residents. In the case of park facilities, staff indicated their belief that charging residents could provide substantial additional revenue. Elimination of this exemption could be implemented very quickly upon a policy determination by the City Commission and adoption of a resolution or amendments to the relevant ordinance.

10) Three Safe Neighborhood Districts (under F.S. §163.506)

Three Safe Neighborhood Districts have been created by the City with the City Commission as the governing body of each district. See §34-21, City Code. These districts could be used to levy up to 2 mills to fund a variety of local improvements, including street lighting, sidewalks, access to transit, as well as funding some local police and law enforcement services. The breadth of authority listed in the statute provides a number of opportunities to fund a number of improvements and services. By generating revenue for policing activities in particular, a portion of the burden on the General Fund could be shifted to properties in these districts. Since the City Commission is the governing body of each of the three existing districts, the potential levy of up to 2 mills within each district could be utilized for the FY10/11 Budget.

11) Local Improvement Districts

The City currently appears to fund localized capital improvements from a variety of revenue sources, including the General Fund. The use of local assessment districts for specific localized projects or within a particular area should be considered. By collecting all or a portion of the costs of an improvement from those properties specially benefitting, the City can more closely relate the burden and benefit of such improvements. This additional revenue can reduce the burden on existing revenues – be it the General Fund, gas tax funds, or stormwater fees. Instead of a project by project approach, the City could develop a City wide policy of shifting a portion of costs, say 50% of all road resurfacing projects, to the properties specially benefitted by the projects. Such a policy determination would leverage declining City revenues by shifting some of the cost burden to those properties receiving the greatest benefit while acknowledging the general benefit to the community at large that may result from such projects. By sharing in the costs, the local properties and the general community can benefit from the City's increased ability to construct needed improvements.

12) Update Existing Impact Fees & Assessments/Fees

The City currently has a Parking Impact Fee, Solid Waste Fee/Assessment, Stormwater Fee/Assessment, and Open Space In Lieu Of Fee that could benefit from being updated to current costs. The Parking Impact Fee may be updated annually by the Planning & Zoning Director based on CPI, see Code §130-132. If impact fees are below the reasonable costs to the City to provide the required facilities, the City will be faced with subsidizing the costs of providing the facilities needed to accommodate new growth from other revenue sources, including most likely the General Fund. The other fees and assessments should be updated by City Commission action based on a study updating each fee. Even where the current assessment/fee revenues are used within an Enterprise Fund, such as the Solid Waste and Stormwater fees/assessments, if the fees are artificially low, the ability of the City to provide services and facilities is impaired.

13) New Impact Fees

The City could consider creation of additional impact fees to fund capital facilities needed to serve new development. Given the current economic climate and the highly developed status of the City of Miami Beach, it is unclear if additional impact fees would be beneficial, particularly in the short term. However, one area to explore in the short term would be a Transportation Impact Fee for the construction of additional transit and multi-modal facilities to reduce the impact on roadways. For the long term, the City could consider the creation of Impact Fees for Police, Fire, Parks and Recreation and General Government. While impact fees are only for the expansion of infrastructure, the fees can offset existing and future General Fund Capital Appropriations.

Additionally, Willdan identified potential new or increased revenue sources. Initial efforts were directed toward gleaning these potential new or increased revenue stream ideas from discussions with the City's professional staff, a number of additional recommendations have been developed by the consultant based on staff discussions and inquiries concerning the City's present operation and policies. This information is therefore delineated into two sections. The first section contains the result of staff inquiries and their suggestions for new or enhance fee and rates opportunities. The second section contains recommendations developed by the consultant using operational and policy information provided by members of the professional staff. The recommendations are therefore from the consultant based on our understanding of the City, our knowledge of state law and your city charter and ordinances and experiences we have witnessed in other communities across the county.

Memorandum

TO: Ms. Kathie Brooks, City of Miami Beach
FROM: Mr. Lee Evett, Willdan Financial Services
Mr. Pierce Rossum, Willdan Financial Services
DATE: June 18, 2010
SUBJECT: Revised Deliverable #2 – Revenue Inventory and Comparison Survey

BACKGROUND

The City of Miami Beach ('City') retained Willdan Financial Services (Willdan) to complete a General Fund Revenue Enhancement Study. The objective of this project is for Willdan to conduct a revenue enhancement study that includes an inventory of City General Fund revenue sources (with the exception of property taxes and building development process related fees); a comparison of a subset of these sources with other national and local entities; identification of existing City sources for which the City is "below market"; recommendations for new revenue sources; and cost analyses for new or increased cost-based fees the City decides to study further. This memorandum represents the work effort report related to Phase 3: Inventory and Comparison of Revenue Sources and Structures hereafter referred to the market-rate study.

This Memorandum also discusses some revenue opportunities for consideration by the City of Miami Beach to augment the City's ad valorem property tax revenue and reduce the strain on the City's general fund. Ad valorem property tax reforms and decreases in assessed values of property have caused a significant reduction in the City's ad valorem revenue, as has occurred throughout Florida. The City has been and will continue to be faced with difficult decisions regarding continued funding of existing services and programs, funding of the capital improvements program, as well as meeting debt service requirements of existing bonds secured by a pledge of ad valorem taxes. Some responses to the financial strain on local governments include reducing staff and services, delaying or cancelling planned improvements, and leveraging capital improvements cost impact through long-term debt.

The City of Miami Beach Today

The City of Miami Beach is a unique community. With a relatively small full time residential population, a highly diverse socio-economic culture, and an average effective population estimated at a quarter million people all living on a portion of a barrier island; Miami Beach has earned its reputation as a community without parallel.

Being unique demographically and geographically has not insulated the City from the laws of economics nor in turn, the national recession. Traditional dependable and predictable revenue sources have declined, while the demand for social and government services has remained steady or increased.

Over the last several years, the City of Miami Beach commendably adopted budgets that provided fiscal relief to its constituents, while at the same time providing for the delivery of improved services that addressed the community's needs and priorities as identified by local leaders. The City also undertook structural changes that enhanced capital funding and reserves. However, as the national and local economies continue to suffer through the recession and slow recovery, these honorable fiscal objectives have become more challenging and difficult to maintain. Given Miami Beach's stature as a tourist and vacation home destination, the effects of the national economy are more profound on the local economy than is the case in many other communities.

Between Fiscal Year (FY) 2007/08 and FY 2009/10, Miami Beach's General Fund absorbed almost $44 million in reductions in a budget that today stands at $226 million. FY 2010/11 is expected to present even more challenges. The basis of FY 2009/10 property taxes are the certified values from the Miami-Dade County property appraiser's office as of January 1, 2009, while the basis of property taxes for FY 2010/11 will be the certified values as of January 1, 2010. Declines in values of properties between January 1 2009 and January 1, 2010 are anticipated, although the degree of the decline is not yet known. Further, the positive offset that may result from new construction as of January 1, 2009 is not anticipated to be recognized for this fiscal year. If the recent trend of declining property values continues, which as mentioned, is possible even as sales and other taxes stabilize and start to rebound, the City of Miami Beach may sustain an estimated additional $10 million decline in property tax revenue. In addition, based upon preliminary analysis by the City's pension actuary, it is anticipated that pension costs, which are paid for by the General Fund, could increase by approximately $6 million due to investment declines for the last two years of approximately $5 million. Collectively, the impact of property value declines and increased pension costs could result in further negative impact on the General Fund of approximately $15 million. This shortfall amount could increase depending on actual certified property values as of January 1, 2010; final actuarial valuations as of October 1, 2009; and the impacts of other potential expenditure increases.

It is important to note that the level of property tax revenues will be determined after a thorough review of all other potential revenue enhancements and cost reductions. Since there are really no actionable means to immediately and directly affect property tax revenues, this study is not charged with reviewing property taxes, either locally or in comparable cities. Additionally, the City retained another consultant last year to complete a comprehensive review and study of fees charged for building and development related services. Thus, those fees have also been excluded from this study.

The Law of Local Government Economics

On the surface, the economics of local government are relatively simple – revenues should equal expenses. When revenues decline, municipalities grapple with how to respond appropriately. Reducing costs is a continual exercise played out every day in most communities. More so recently, those efforts have resulted in the trimming of budgets by significant percentages through the reduction of expenditures, decreased levels of services and programs, and unprecedented lay-offs and unpaid furloughs of local government employees. At the same time, local leaders are struggling with how to fairly and responsibly maximize the return from community assets; when to require that voluntarily requested services be priced to ensure full cost or even partial recovery; and when to consider the implementation of opportunities for new and or expanded fees and rates charged for services, such as non-ad valorem assessments. All of these considerations are necessary in order to develop options for reducing demand on constrained General Fund revenues so that these unrestricted funds remain available to fund services and programs that cannot be adequately funded through dedicated revenue streams. Of course, in many cases, these programs and services are the very reason for the formation of local governments: public safety, freedom of movement on public roads, and the protection of private property value through effective land use provisions and enforcement.

With this background, the City of Miami Beach retained Willdan Financial Services to explore two strategic questions:

- How do Miami Beach’s existing fees and rates compare with similar fees and rates in comparable cities across the country; and
- What fees and rates do these comparable cities utilize that are not presently a component of Miami Beach’s revenue structure, and that might be implemented to augment General Fund revenue?

Survey Methodology & Approach

Tax and fee structures vary greatly between jurisdictions. Understanding that, the City of Miami Beach identified thirty cities that it deemed comparable in a number of characteristics, such as demographics, geographical location, and/or recognition as a destination locale. The thirty cities across the nation and vary in economic and industrial characteristics.

List of Comparable Cities

Alexandria	Galveston	San Antonio
Annapolis	Henderson	San Diego
Atlanta	Honolulu	San Francisco
Atlantic City	Key West	Santa Fe
Austin	Myrtle Beach	Santa Monica
Boca Raton	New Orleans	Savannah
Boulder	New York City	Scottsdale
Branson	Orlando	Tampa
Charlotte	Pensacola	Virginia Beach
Fort Lauderdale	Phoenix	West Hollywood

Willdan developed an inventory and comparison of general fund revenue sources from the selected cities. The inventory and comparisons are developed into two categories. The first category inquired whether the comparison cities had fees similar to those that are presently collected by Miami Beach and at what level those fees are set. Because the fee structures vary significantly among jurisdictions, Willdan analyzed the fee schedules specifically to determine as close to a true “apples to apples” comparison of fee and rate schedules between Miami Beach and the comparison cities. The second category investigates which unique general fund revenue mechanisms are currently employed by the subject city that are not currently implemented in Miami Beach.

In order to insure that Willdan is educated about the fees, rates, and charges presently in place in Miami Beach, we requested extensive documentation from City staff related to each specific fee, rate, or charge, as well as appropriate enabling legislation (primarily resolutions and/or ordinances). In addition, we interviewed 19 members of the agency staff representing numerous departments. These discussions explored existing fee programs, internal policies as to the application of the fees, and potential new revenues that have been or are being considered at the departmental level.

Comparable City Profiles

Willdan utilized all available sources and information to examine and explore each comparison city. Through discussions with agency staff and by analyzing city fee schedules, cost allocations, budgets, and other financial documents, Willdan generated profiles detailing all pertinent information.

The profiles below cover four categories:

1. Key Statistics—A collection of economic and socioeconomic statistics. Figures that have similar attributes to Miami Beach have been marked with an asterisk.
2. Points of Interest—General descriptions of the outlining tourism, relative size, and economic factors, among others.
3. Unique Revenues—Revenue sources utilized by the comparable cities, that are not currently or fully realized by Miami Beach.
4. Sources of General Fund Revenue—Presented in a pie chart, it is interesting to see for each comparison city, the portion of its general fund revenue generated by each revenue stream. As seen in nearly every profile, revenue from taxes eclipses all other forms of general fund revenue. This is not an unexpected finding, because taxes are a way for cities to generate predictable and widespread revenue, whereas user fees are generally used as a form of cost recovery for a specific activity or service provided, not as a source of ongoing revenue generation.

Based on the available comparisons, the table first outlines Miami Beach's user fees and charges reviewed in this study. Second, the table details the average, minimum, and high comparison markets fees. Finally, by relating Miami Beach's existing fee to the market average, it is determined whether the City can possibly review its fee. Details of the market rate fee survey are presented in the model accompanying this memo.

Red Light Cameras

The 2010 Legislative Session of the Florida Legislature has just ended with numerous statutory amendments that could impact the City of Miami Beach. One statutory change identified applies to the City's new "red light camera" program. Although the new legislation, House Bill 325 creating the Mark Wandall Traffic Safety Act and amending Chapter 316, Florida Statutes, will provide clear authority for the red light cameras, it also limits the revenue to the City to $75 per infraction when enforced by municipal law enforcement. A total fine of $158 is established; however, the remaining $83 dollars are to be remitted to the State Department of Revenue. The bill has been submitted to the Governor and, if signed by the Governor as expected, will be effective July 1, 2010.

Franchise Fees and Utility Tax Rates

In addition to reviewing the fees in the table above, Willdan analyzed the City's franchise and utility tax rates. In most cases, the City is limited, or at least greatly hindered, in its ability to modify its existing rates.

Parks and Recreation Analysis

Furthermore, the City requested that we investigate some parks and recreation revenue sources. More than other charges, parks and recreation programs vary not only in programs offered, but also in the number of sessions, size, and, most importantly cost recovery or cost subsidy. The Parks and Recreation Department for the City of Miami Beach is unique in that it tracks revenues and expenditures for each program. This dramatically increases the City’s ability to inquire about cost recovery and dissolves programs that do not break even.

With that in mind, Willdan reviewed the rate structures for City-owned pools, golf courses, and tennis courts. A table for each service is detailed below. Please note, some rates and structures were modified to allow consistent and meaningful comparisons. Do to the limited scope of the study no additional fees were reviewed.

As it relates to increasing golf course, pool, and tennis court rates and more in-depth market rate and sensitivity analysis is recommended. Because the three fee areas are voluntary and sensitive to easily substituted they may be more price sensitive than other city related user fees.

Recommended Revenue Adjustments

In this study, our review and analysis of numerous existing City revenue sources as well as an evaluation of other city revenues, Willdan is recommending that the following City of Miami Beach revenues be updated in most cases to the study average. The recommendations are those that are projected to have the largest impact on the City's General Fund revenue. A later section, Indirect General Fund Enhancements, provide the City with other methods of unburdening the City's General Fund.

The model developed by Willdan details that the City of Miami Beach fines for False Alarms are generally consistent with the other cities studied. However, the scenario analysis revealed other cities charge a higher amount for each subsequent false alarm whereas Miami Beach does not. The result is the City's existing fourth and fifth false alarm fees are low. The response to an alarm is a dangerous activity of the public and the police. Many companies do not properly teach their employees how to turn on/off the alarm. The City may also consider adding higher fines for alarms that are not properly registered; this will increase registration revenue by encouraging proper compliance. In regards to Peddlers Permit, providing the public right of way as a commercial location for peddlers is a valuable commodity. The survey showed the City of Miami Beach's permit of $10.00 to be well below the average of $86.00. The City could also develop rates that vary based on whether or not the constituent has a cart or not.

It is difficult to determine the net effect of increasing park and recreation fees to the survey average. The Parks and Recreation Department provided Willdan with preliminary "what if" scenarios detailing the effect of increasing or decreasing pool rates at historical usage rates. Although no sensitivity analysis was completed, the parks department calculated substantial revenue increase by increasing residential pool rates of both resident and non-resident users. As seen in the survey results, it is common for cities to charge residents for use of public pools.

To summarize the City should review the following services. In general, Willdan recommends that the City of Miami Beach increase their fees to be in line with the survey average. In particular, increasing ambulance fees for basic and advanced life supports as this is a very expensive "stand by" service. Additionally, as requests for Fingerprinting become more common, it is recommended that the City increase the fee to issue these requests.

Unique Revenue Summary

Unique fees are uncommon as cities generally do not reinvent the wheel and are often restricted socially or legally. By analyzing the unique fees and revenues listed on the comparison city profiles four distinct revenue categories resulted. Although most of the unique fees results are permit and tax related revenues, valet parking and alarms registration fees are most prevalent. Please note if the City were to implement new services, such as Fire Evacuation Plans and Procedures Review, additional costs may be incurred and consequently offset increased revenues. A further analysis to detail projected revenue would allow the City to determine if existing resources could be utilized to offset associated costs adding additional revenues to the General Fund. While the City of Miami Beach may have several of these fees collected by enterprise funds, all fees (parking, sanitation, etc.) listed below generate General Fund Revenue.

Unique Fee Descriptions

The following bullets provide further detail on some of the unique fees as their titles maybe unclear and do not clarify the purpose or use.

- Parking Tax (3%) The City of New Orleans parking tax is parking surcharge of private facility's revenues (such as campgrounds or travel parks) to park/store/berth motor vehicles or watercraft, if right to park/store/berth is included in the rental. The tax imposed shall never be less than $0.01 for each occasion or period of use. This tax is in addition to a 4% parking tax imposed by the State of Louisiana and a 5% sales tax levied by the City. Thus, the total tax on parking in New Orleans is equal to 12%. Impact Assessment - In fiscal 2001, the tax generated approximately $2.0 million in revenues for the City. According to one operator, the tax has little impact on his business and on other enterprises in the downtown area. According to this individual, New Orleans is a tourist destination, and a parking tax certainly does not come into consideration when making travel plans.
- Valet Licensing Fees - Annual licensing fee paid by all operators of valet parking in the city of Santa Monica. FY2009-10 and FY 2010-11 revenues are anticipated to be $75,000 each year.
- Parking Facilities Tax (10%) The City of Santa Monica issues a 10% tax on parking in Santa Monica (excluding parking meters) for which a parking fee is charged. Revenues are anticipated to generate $9 million for the City's General Fund.

- Food Service Tax (0.15%) is a tax applied to food and beverage consumed in restaurants and similar establishments in the City of Boulder (with exception to food purchased for home consumption from grocery/convenience stores or bakeries). The food service tax is added to the current sales tax.
- Home Consumption Food Tax (2.00%) Because of the economy declined further and faster than was predicted, General Fund revenues have fallen far below what was budgeted. On February 2, 2010, facing a $241 million revenue shortfall the Phoenix Mayor and City Council approved a 2 percent emergency food tax. The City of Phoenix Home Consumption Food Tax is a retail sales tax on food for home consumption under the retail- and use-tax business classifications. The annual food tax revenue will be about $50 million and by implementing the tax in April, $62.5 million will be collected over the next 15 months. Of which, $37.5 million will go to the General Fund and the remaining $25 million will provide funding for the dedicated Public Safety, Transit 2000 and Parks and Preserves sales tax funds. The tax is effective April 1, 2010, and will sunset in five years.
- The Rental Operating Permit ($100 per unit), through the City of Annapolis's Neighborhood and Environment Department, is an annual license fee upon City inspection of the property. The fee is $100 per unit annually.
- The Zoning Use Clearance (ZUC) Fee ($17 per application) is required for all businesses to operate at a business location located in San Diego City limits and is applicable upon initial application and any time a change of location or change of business activity is filed. Additionally, the charges $34.00 City's Business Tax Certificate fee.
- Blue Curb Evaluation/Installation Fee ($275 per installation) is a fee for the engineering and installation of blue curbs or residential streets, restricting parking vehicles with a disabled placard or license plate. The City also charges the same amount for Green, Yellow, and white curbs, and red driveway and fire hydrant curb clearance zones. The Blue Curb fee is expected to generate $30,000 annually whereas the Color Curb Fee (all other colors) is expected to generate $40,000.
- Employer Annual Transportation Fee (10-49 Employees: $12.35; 50+ Employees: $11.95; Annual Emission Reduction Plan fee (per work site) $714.00). Although not directly general fund revenue, the City of Santa Monica implemented a transportation fee to mitigate costs associated with population and employment growth and related traffic and transportation requirements. A portion of the fee revenue is used to offset general fund costs associated with the City's General Plan and other transportation and traffic studies. For more information, please refer to the city's municipal code chapter 9 section 16.

Taxing Authority

Under the Florida Constitution, municipalities have been provided with broad home rule authority to exercise municipal powers; however, the authority to levy taxes is held by the state. Unless specifically authorized by state statute, municipalities have no authority to levy taxes. Certain taxes, such as the business license tax, have been authorized for municipalities, while authority to levy other taxes, such as the excise tax on tobacco products, remain with the state or have been granted to counties, as with local option fuel taxes. This study by Willdan does not detail shared revenue from the state, but instead focuses on those taxes authorized for the City of Miami Beach to collect, including the business license tax and the resort tax on transient rentals and sales of food and beverages.

Indirect General Fund Enhancements

The current study being performed is specifically analyzing maximization of existing general fund revenue sources and potential for creation of new revenue sources. As part of our research for this project and our work engagements with other municipalities within the State of Florida, this section identifies some opportunities for Miami Beach to consider for maximizing existing revenue mechanisms as well as the potential for new ones. Maximizing existing revenue or creating a new revenue stream that is not directly related to the general fund, but rather is indirectly related by generating funds for specific purposes/services could help reduce the burden on the General Fund by alleviating the general fund from financing such services. A brief discussion of some specific opportunities identified for the City is presented within this section.

Selection and implementation of funding mechanisms require detailed analysis of the amount and timing of revenue needs (initial and long-term), projections of potential revenue from identified revenue mechanisms, research and application of legal constraints on the specific project/program and, ultimately, policy decisions by elected officials guiding distribution of the benefits and burdens of the proposed projects and programs. Due to the changing nature of the law and actions of the Florida Legislature, information presented herein may become outdated. Based on a review of the City's Code and Florida statutes, the following primary opportunities for increasing general fund revenue or shifting demand on the general fund to a new revenue source have been identified:

Increase Resort Tax on transient rentals

The City of Miami Beach currently is limited by its charter from levying the maximum resort tax authorized by statute. Laws of Florida ch. 67-930 authorizes a 4% tax on transient rentals and a 2% tax on sales of food, beverages, wine and alcohol. However, the City Charter §5.03 limits the City to a 3% tax on transient rentals. The City could pursue authority to increase the transient rental levy through amendment of the City Charter by referendum.

Fire Services Assessment

The imposition of a special assessment to fund fire protection services has been upheld by the Florida Supreme Court in City of North Lauderdale v. SMM Properties, 825 So.2d 343 (Fla., 2002). The adoption and levy of such an assessment for the City of Miami Beach could provide significant relief to the General Fund that currently funds all costs related to fire suppression, education and inspection. Emergency medical services (EMS) related costs may not be included in a fire services special assessment so some continued funding from the General Fund would be necessary. However, based on our specific and direct experience in forming fire assessment with Florida municipalities, the City would fund approximately 30% to 50% of the fire department's total budget. The specific amount that may be funded by a fire assessment is determined by using a sophisticated analysis of the calls for service based on not just the number of calls but also the equipment, personnel and time duration on scene. The analysis provides a nexus between each property's assessment and the special benefit each property receives from fire protection services. The assessment Implementation of a fire services assessment could provide revenue for the FY11-12 Budget.

Three Safe Neighborhood Districts (under F.S. §163.506)

Three Safe Neighborhood Districts has been created by the City with the City Commission as the governing body of each district. See §34-121, City Code. These districts could be used to levy up to 2 mills to fund a variety of local improvements, including street lighting, sidewalks, access to transit, as well as funding local police and law enforcement services. The breadth of authority listed in the statute provides a number of opportunities to fund a number of improvements and services. By generating revenue for policing activities in particular, a portion of the burden on the General Fund could be shifted to properties in these districts. Since the City Commission is the governing body of each of the three existing districts, the potential levy of up to 2 mills within each district could be utilized for the FY10-11 Budget.

Local Improvement Districts

The City currently appears to fund localized capital improvements from a variety of revenue sources, including the General Fund. The use of local assessment districts for specific localized projects or within a particular area should be considered. By collecting all or a portion of the costs of an improvement from those properties specially benefitting, the City can more closely relate the burden and benefit of such improvements. This additional revenue can reduce the burden on existing revenues – be it the General Fund, gas tax funds, or storm water fees. Instead of a project-by-project approach, the City could develop a city-wide policy of shifting a portion of costs, say 50% of all road resurfacing projects, to the properties specially benefitted by the projects. Such a policy determination would leverage declining City revenues by shifting some of the cost burden to those properties receiving the greatest benefit while acknowledging the general benefit to the community at large that may result from such projects. By sharing in the costs, the local properties and the general community can benefit from the City's increased ability to construct needed improvements.

Update Existing Impact Fees & Assessments/Fees

The City currently has a Parking Impact Fee, Solid Waste Fee/Assessment, Stormwater Fee/Assessment, and Open Space In-Lieu-Of Fee that could benefit from being updated to current costs. The Parking Impact Fee may be updated annually by the Planning & Zoning Director based on CPI, see Code §130-132. The other fees and assessments should be updated by City Commission action based on a study updating each fee.

The City could consider creation of additional impact fees to fund capital facilities needed to serve new development. As growth occurs, the general government services are impacted – Police, Fire, and General Government resources. In order to provide the same level of service, as existed prior to that growth (police response times, records requests, etc.) the city incurs a cost. By creating impact fees for Police, Fire and General Government the City could recover those costs and relieving the General Fund of that burden. Given the current economic climate and the highly developed status of the City of Miami Beach, it is unclear if additional impact fees would be beneficial. However, one area to explore would be for the construction of additional transit and multi-modal facilities to reduce the impact on roadways.

Conclusion

This memo incorporates the deliverables related to phase three and a prelude to phase four. All items outlined are for discussion purposes only. The city should provide any comments on Wednesday, June 9, 2010. Upon receipt of the comments, Willdan will make any adjustments and provide further analysis as deemed necessary.

Should you have any questions regarding this document please contact me via email at Levett@Willdan.com or call at (407) 352-3958.

Disclaimer

Survey results do not show the details of each tax, charge or fee. In some instances, they may only represent a range or part of the rate or fee. The data are intended to provide a snapshot of the user fee universe. Results from this survey can help identify overall trends and ranges, but should not be used to quote an individual comparison city rate. Although precautions have been taken to provide information that is as accurate as possible, it is not practical to verify all of the information provided. Phase Three: Deliverable #2 - City Data Detail Model

Introduction:

Using the list of fees provided by the City of Miami Beach (the City), Willdan surveyed 29 comparable cities to evaluate the City's rate levels. This model provides all relevant data as it relates to the surveyed cities. Each of the 29 cities have a "Fee List" (Red Worksheets) that matches that provided by the City.

If the fees found during our analysis matched in format to that of Miami Beach the rate was inputted. If the surveyed city's fee format (schedule) varied from Miami Beach's then an additional worksheet was generated to detail the differences. Instead of an inputted number, the rate reads "See 'City Name #' to direct the reader to the appropriate worksheet.

For the Phase 3 Memo, Willdan created scenarios to appropriately compare the varying fee schedules - as shown in Table 1. These scenarios/prototypes enable the City of Miami Beach to accurately review the City's rate levels in a single glance. Certain fees had multiple scenarios (i.e. False Alarms) as many of the fee schedules became more punitive with subsequent false alarms. Others, dishonored checks for example, were limited to a single scenario as most fee schedules, while varied, were narrowly ranged.

False Alarm Fines

The City of Fort Lauderdale's Alarm Ordinance requires that each alarm system (residential and non-residential) be registered with the city. The initial registration fee for an alarm system is $50.00. Registrations are effective for 12 months and are required to be renewed each calendar year.

The City Ordinance governing Alarm Systems defines what an alarm monitoring company is, requires a one-time alarm registration fee for each alarm unit, and defines the alarm service fee structure for the Police and Fire Departments. The Ordinance's alarm service fee structure was established to more effectively address the costs associated with alarm responses by the Police and Fire Departments, as well as the administrative costs to effectively track and monitor the database information for call out and billing purposes.

Each alarm user is still required to register their alarm system. Download the registration form for mailing. Registration forms may also be obtained at the payment locations listed below or you can have a form mailed to you by contacting the Alarm Unit at 954-828-6429.

Those who HAVE NOT registered their alarm systems and HAVE NOT paid the initial $50 registration fee are required to register their alarms and pay the $50 initial registration fee.

Those who HAVE registered their alarm systems since January 16, 2004 and HAVE paid the initial $50 registration fee are ONLY required to submit a registration renewal form each year to satisfy the annual registration requirement. No renewal fee is required. RENEWALS CANNOT BE DONE ONLINE; YOU MUST MAIL-IN THE REGISTRATION RENEWAL FORM

If an alarm user has more than one alarm system, each system must be registered separately, regardless of the number of buildings or portion thereof in which the alarm system is operating.

Alarm registrations are non-transferrable. If there is a change of ownership or tenant(s), the new alarm user has 30 days from the date of transfer to re-register the alarm and pay the initial registration fee. Likewise, new or replacement alarm systems must also be registered within 30 days of installation. If any information supplied in any alarm registration has changed, the registered alarm user must also notify the City of the change within 30 days.

Alarm Response Service Fees

"Alarm response service fees" are defined as a Police or Fire-Rescue response to check a premise due to an activation of an alarm. When emergency personnel respond and find no evidence of criminal activity or a medical need, the alarm call will be considered an alarm response.

Causes of alarm activations:

Using incorrect keypad codes

Failing to train authorized users

Weak system batteries

Failure to secure doors and windows once the alarm is turned on

Wandering pets

Failure of businesses to notify monitoring company of unscheduled openings and closings

Failure of the monitoring company to notify persons on the contact list before calling the police

Alarm response service fees are as follows:

POLICE Residential Alarm Users:

1st alarm response within a twelve-month period is free.

2nd alarm response within a twelve-month period is $50.

3rd alarm response within a twelve-month period is $75.

4th alarm response within a twelve-month period is $100.

5th alarm response and all subsequent alarm responses within a twelve-month period are $200.

POLICE Non-Residential Alarm Users:

1st alarm response within a twelve-month period is free.

2nd alarm response within a twelve-month period is $100.

3rd alarm response within a twelve-month period is $150.

4th alarm response within a twelve-month period is $200.

5th alarm response and all subsequent alarm responses within a twelve-month period are $400.

FIRE Residential and Non-Residential Alarm Users:

1st alarm response within a twelve-month period is free.

2nd alarm response within a twelve-month period is $100.

3rd alarm response within a twelve-month period is $200.

4th alarm response and all subsequent alarm responses within a twelve-month period are $400.

Alarm users are reminded that the ordinance includes a provision allowing the City to place liens against properties having alarm accounts delinquent over thirty (30) days from the billing date, and report delinquent alarm accounts to a contracted collection agency. This might not only affect a property owner's credit standing, but also could allow the City to foreclose on mortgages of real property! Alarm users are encouraged to keep their alarm systems in good operating order, and their alarm accounts paid as up-to-date as possible. Alarm users are reminded that the ordinance also states that failure to register alarm systems and pay the initial registration fee may be punishable by up to sixty (60) days in jail or a $500 fine, if prosecuted.

False calls are smoke detectors or fire alarms that sound for nonfire related events. The City allows for two free calls in any consecutive 12-month period. The property owner is billed $100 per call thereafter. Information technology processes the billing and forwards to the Police Alarm Unit.

False Alarm Fines		Alarm Permit Revocation/Reissuance Fees Each year, the City of San Diego spends approximately $2.3 million responding to false alarms; 99% of the alarms that police officers respond to are false alarms. Staff has determined the most effective means of addressing excessive false alarms is to focus on the chronic offenders by increasing the fee to reissue alarm permits once they have been revoked. The new fee schedule increases the fee for reissuing previously revoked permits from $25 to $75 for the first reissuance, and up to $1,500 for the fourth reissuance of a revoked permit. This revenue will help offset the $2.3 million expense of responding to false alarms.	http://www.sandiego.gov/fm/annual/pdf/fy05/02v1execsum.pdf
